Annual Commitment 2011-2012

Temple Beth El is entering its 69th year as a vibrant and growing center of Jewish life. Each of us shares the responsibility for providing the financial support that enables our Temple to serve the spiritual, religious, educational, and cultural needs of our 1,100+ member congregation.

It costs approximately $2,535 per family unit to run our Temple, which is in line with other congregations our size. This figure includes our mandatory Union for Reform Judaism dues. It is Temple policy that no member be turned away for financial reasons.

Covenant with Temple Beth El

As a member of Temple Beth El, I understand that I am making a commitment to support the Jewish Community. I further understand that the Temple depends on this commitment, and I pledge to fulfill my financial obligation on or before April 1, 2012. If I am unable to do so, I agree to contact the Temple Executive Director to make alternative payment arrangements.

Temple Beth El Building Fund Pledge:

If you have not previously made a Building Fund pledge, a requirement of membership is a $2,500 (or more) commitment payable over 5 years.

Sustainers of the Temple Beth El

Sustainers demonstrate leadership and a most important commitment to our congregation and Judaism. Many in our congregation have been blessed with the ability to give more generously and understand that our Temple would not exist without their sustainer gifts. Please put our Temple first on your list of giving, and commitment to one of the levels below for 2011-2012. Higher levels also receive all the benefits listed below that level.
